OUIDA'S NEW NOVEL.

3 vols. crown 8vo, at every Library.

A R I A D N Ê.

BY OUIDA.

"Ouida's new story, 'Ariadne,' is not only a great romance, but a great and consummate work of art, remarkable beyond anything which she has yet given us for the combination of simplicity, passion, severity, and beauty. The work stands on an altogether loftier level than anything previously attempted by its author. It is as complete and crowning a triumph of the skill of plot, and only four principal dramatis personæ, she should have wrought a result so rich in colour, so beautiful in proportions, as it is of the sculptor's skill that he should be able to transform the solid and shapeless marble into the counter-felt presentment of life. The pages are studded with epigrams and short and felicitous sayings, wherein much wisdom and knowledge of human nature are enshrined. It is as a work of art that 'Ariadne' must be judged; and as such we may almost venture to pronounce it without fault or flaw in its beauty."—The World.

3 vols. crown 8vo, at every Library.

JULIET'S GUARDIAN. By Mrs. H. LOVETT CAMERON.

"A really good novel. Mrs. Cameron is far too good an artist to rest content with anything but the very best work.... One of the purest, brightest, briskest, cleverest, and most original stories that we have come across for many a long day."—Whitehall Review.
"The reading public may be warmly congratulated upon the advent above the literary horizon of a new and exceptionally brilliant planet. Charming fresh. We advise everyone to read and judge for themselves."—Morning Post.

SECOND EDITION.—2 vols. crown 8vo, at every Library.

THE NEW REPUBLIC; or, Culture, Faith, and Philosophy in an English Country House.

"A book to read, to rejoice in, and to remember. It is only very dull or very bigoted persons who will understand its meaning, or who will fail to see that it furnishes few weapons to the faithful, it blunts and breaks a goodly array of the swords and spears of the unbelievers."—Standard.
"A decidedly clever book. There is plenty of epigram in its literary style. There is a very clever imitation of Mr. Matthew Arnold's (Mr. Luke) poetry; but the best parody in the book is that of a sermon of Mr. Jowett, and this is really so good that it might well be a reminiscence of a discourse actually delivered in Balliol Chapel."—The World.

Crown 8vo, cloth extra, with Photographic Portrait, 6s.

TOM HOOD'S POEMS: Humorous and Pathetic. Edited with a Memoir, by his Sister, FRANCES FREELING BRODERIP.

"The book is a sad evidence of what might have been. Those who knew Hood will prize it; those who do not know him should get it, and they will find in it a sufficient reward. It is pure and good from first to last."—Scotsman.

Small 8vo, illustrated boards, 2s. each.

A CHEAP EDITION OF

WILKIE COLLINS'S NOVELS.

THE WOMAN IN WHITE. ANTONINA. BASIL. HIDE AND SEEK. THE DEAD SECRET. THE QUEEN OF HEARTS. MY MISCELLANES.	THE MOONSTONE. MAN AND WIFE. POOR MISS FINCH. MISS OR MRS. THE NEW MAGDALEN. THE FROZEN DEEP. THE LAW AND THE LADY.
---	---

Also, an ILLUSTRATED LIBRARY EDITION, crown 8vo, cloth extra, with numerous Illustrations, and Frontispieces by George Du Maurier, Sir John Gilbert, and others, price 6s. each.

3 vols. crown 8vo, at every Library.

JOHN LEXLEY'S TROUBLES. By C. W. BARDSLEY, M.A.

"In respect of a certain thoughtfulness of tone and grace of style, which are evidently the expression of true culture, it belongs emphatically to what may be termed, in contradistinction to novels of incident, the philosophic school of fiction. On the whole, a thoroughly well-written novel, and full of promise of still better work in the future."—Scotsman.

"There is a great deal of power in Mr. Bardsley's relation of poor John Lexley's troubles. The key-note of the story is the harmonising of two contrasted natures, which, differing utterly in kind, resemble each other in the sweetness and purity of generous and untainted youth. The book is suggestive; in parts it is also humorous."—Athenæum.

CHATTO & WINDUS, PICCADILLY, W.

CHATTO & WINDUS, PUBLISHERS.

TWO IMPORTANT NEW NOVELS.

3 vols. crown 8vo, at every Library.

WHAT HE COST HER.

By JAMES PAYN,

Author of "Lost: Sir Massingberd."

3 vols. crown 8vo, at every Library.

DICK TEMPLE.

By JAMES GREENWOOD.

"Resembles in construction, though not otherwise, the immortal adventures of the Pickwick Club, and has no more plot than that famous work. The various scenes are told with much spirit."—Athenæum.

Crown 8vo, cloth extra, with Illustrations, 7s. 6d.

J. M. W. TURNER'S LIFE and CORRESPONDENCE.

Founded upon Letters and Papers furnished by his Friends and fellow Academicians. By WALTER THORN-BURY. A New Edition, entirely rewritten and considerably enlarged. With numerous Illustrations in Colours facsimiled from Turner's original Drawings.

Small 8vo, cloth extra, 6s.

BY STREAM and SEA:

A BOOK FOR WANDERERS AND ANGLERS.

By WILLIAM SENIOR (RED-SPINNER).

Crown 8vo, cloth extra, 9s.

W. S. GILBERT'S ORIGINAL PLAYS.

Containing "A Wicked World," "Charity," "The Palace of Truth," "Pygmalion," "Trial by Jury," &c.

Crown 8vo, cloth extra, 7s. 6d.

PICTORIAL NOTES in the NATIONAL GALLERY (THE BRITISH SCHOOL).

With One Hundred and Fifteen Illustrations of the Principal Pictures at Trafalgar Square. By HENRY BLACKBURN.

Showing the Re-arrangement of the Pictures, and the latest Additions, with Plans of the Galleries, &c. This Part, which includes Hogarth's "Marriage à la Mode," Turner's "Fighting Temeraire," Frith's "Derby Day," Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair," and numerous Landscapes, forms a complete Catalogue of the British School.

Demy 8vo, cloth extra, with coloured plates, 30s.

THE BRITISH FLORA MEDICA: A

History of the Medicinal Plants of Great Britain. Illustrated by a Figure of each Plant, carefully COLOURED BY HAND. By BENJAMIN H. BARTON, F.L.S., and THOMAS CASTLE, M.D. F.R.S. A New Edition, revised and partly re-written by JOHN R. JACKSON, A.L.S., Curator of the Museums of Economic Botany, Royal Gardens, Kew.

Demy 8vo, cloth extra, with Coloured Illustrations and numerous Plans, 24s.

A HISTORY OF THE RIFLE BRIGADE

(the Prince Consort's Own), formerly the 95th. By Sir WILLIAM H. COPE, formerly Lieutenant Rifle Brigade.

"A better theme for an interesting military book than the history of that famous corps, the Rifle Brigade, could scarcely have been selected."—Athenæum.
"A most valuable and interesting book."—Broad Arrow.

Now ready, crown 8vo, cloth gilt, price 6s.

The THIRD EDITION OF

BOUDOIR BALLADS. By J. Ashby-STERRY.

"Every requisite of poetry which plays with the prose of life, every innate or acquired faculty of ease, grace, delicacy, musical precision, airy playfulness, unforced humour, and unstrained fancy, will be found in 'Boudoir Ballads.'"—Daily Telegraph.

"Mr. Ashby-Sterry is just what he styles himself, a 'laureate of frills,' but although he is at his happiest when musing over feminine grace and beauty, as in 'Saint May' and 'Little Undine,' he is no forgetter of the charms of nature; witness such pieces as 'Blankon Weir' and 'In Strawberry Time.' As is right in such pieces, the human interest predominates; and there are touches of true pathos and humour which redeem the book from any charge of frivolity."—Grographic.

"May, on the whole, be pronounced a delightful volume."—Bookseller.

"Will certainly find an appropriate place in a lady's boudoir."—Westminster Review.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC

Purifies and Enriches the Blood.

Strengthens the Nerves and Muscular System.

Promotes Appetite and Improves Digestion.

Animates the Spirits and Mental Faculties.

Thoroughly recruits the general bodily health, and induces a proper healthy condition of the Nervous and Physical Forces.

PEPPER'S QUININE and IRON TONIC.

Bottles containing 32 measured doses, 4s. 6d.

Sold by all Chemists.

In the preparation of this Tonic the greatest care is exercised. It is a faithful compound of Quinine, the active principle of Yellow Cinchona, or Peruvian Bark, blended with a refined trustworthy preparation of Iron, produced in a form which the experience of many years has proved the best. It offers a ready means of gaining the strength and other benefits afforded by Quinine and Iron, without any fear of ill consequences. The name of J. PEPPER is signed in red ink on the label.

TARAXACUM and PODOPHYLLIN.—A fluid combination for Derangement of the Liver, particularly when arising from slight congestion. By gently stimulating the action of the liver and slightly moving the bowels, the heavy, drowsy feeling, with sensations of fulness, headache, pain beneath the shoulders, and other indications of Dyspepsia are removed. Taraxacum and Podophyllin is much safer than calomel or blue pill, and quite as effective for removing bile. Prepared by J. PEPPER, 237 Tottenham Court Road, London, whose name must be on the label. Bottles 2s. 9d. and 4s. 6d. each. Sold by all Chemists.

LOCKYER'S SULPHUR HAIR RESTORER.

Large bottles, 1s. 6d. Restores the Colour to grey hair in a few days. The best, safest, and cheapest. Quite equal to expensive ones. Sold by Chemists and Hairdressers.

EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS OF PART I.

Saturday Review, May 19.

"This at least seems certain, that, if he attains the success at which he aims, his success will be very striking; and the genuine talent he displays in many ways makes his undertaking a literary experiment which will be followed with no little interest."

Morning Advertiser.

"It is impossible to ignore the fact that the story, seen even in this imperfect fashion, promises to be one of much interest, and exhibits marks of unquestionable power."

Scotsman.

"It displays a knowledge of human nature at once wide and deep, and great power in the employment of that knowledge; singular skill in the management of a plot more complicated, surely, than novelist ever before undertook to unravel; and a swift vigour and daring in the treatment of critical scenes and episodes that at times rises almost to the level of genius."

Courier.

"We rise from a perusal of the book not less startled at the boldness than we are impressed by the skill with which the plot is launched."

Belfast Northern Whig.

"Full of promise. It bears no mark of the hand of a novice. Its style instantly attracts attention, and ensures for its matter no common treatment."

Irish Times.

"If the writer be not George Eliot, and the rest of the work be in keeping with the magnificent sweep of design, with ordinary analytic power and incisiveness of style, we have no hesitation in affirming that a new power has arisen in literature, whose fictions will take a place beside the best novels in the English language."

THE PILOT AND HIS WIFE. Translated from the Norwegian of JONAS LIE. By G. L. TOT-TENHAM. One Vol., post 8vo, 10s. 6d.

"No work of the modern Norwegian school of realistic writers of the imagination is more characteristic than the novel of which a translation is here presented to us. It is the finest work of a poet who has a style and a power entirely his own, and who is rapidly taking a foremost place in Norwegian literature."—Athenaeum.

"It is not exactly easy to define where the exact charm of the story lies, but it is so genuine, so sweet, so simple, so sad, and, above all, so natural, that it is impossible to deny its charm, and we cannot but feel grateful to its translator."—Examiner.

TURKEY IN EUROPE.

BY

Lieut.-Col. JAMES BAKER.

The SATURDAY REVIEW says:—

"In many ways Colonel Baker may be said to be exactly the man to go to European Turkey. When he travels he sees with his own eyes, and does not merely find confirmation of what he has read and heard before. He is a geologist, a sportsman, and a practical agriculturist. He is completely free from religious fanaticism, and recognises virtue when he sees it in Christians and Mahomedans alike. He has worked up with diligence, and recapitulated with brevity and distinctness, all that he could learn as to the ethnology, migrations, conquests, and defeats of Bulgarians, Greeks, Turks, Albanians, Servians, and Montenegrins. He has put together all the facts he could collect as to the educational, judicial, financial, military, and naval systems of Turkey. Of all that he speaks of from personal knowledge he is a trustworthy witness, calm, shrewd, and impartial. Of all that he speaks of from historical and other printed documents he is a trustworthy compiler, intelligent, concise, and rapid. As a traveller, Colonel Baker inserts the usual traveller's stories, to give variety and relief to his statistics and his discussions."

The WORLD says:—

"For moderation of tone and fulness of knowledge Colonel James Baker's 'Turkey in Europe' may be pronounced a unique production. It is impossible to imagine any work on European Turkey more complete in its information, more circumspect in its judgments, more comprehensive in its view, more thorough and accurate in its facts."

U A R D A .

A NEW NOVEL.

By GEORG EBERS, the Author of "An Egyptian Princess."

From the German by CLARA BELL.

The only English Copyright Edition. 2 vols. 2s. each, cloth.

"'Uarda' is, in fact, a highly successful example of the archaeological novel, and equally with the author's former work deserves the honour of translation."—Saturday Review.

From the rare combination of eminent scientific knowledge with the ingenious gifts of a poet arose Professor Ebers's two fine historical novels, "The Egyptian Princess," 2 vols., and "Uarda," 2 vols. Both bring before our eyes real life in ancient Egypt; in "Uarda," the German Edition of which, only just issued, has had an immense success, the action is laid in the 18th Century before Christ, and amongst the dramatis personæ figure the great King Rameses II., Moses, and the bard Pentaur.

"The most charming book of the season."—Mail.

SEONEE; or, Camp Life on the Satpura

Range. By ROBERT ARMITAGE STERNDAL, F.R.G.S.

Illustrated by the Author.

"If any doubt this, let them read the most charming book of the season.....'Mr. Sterndale's' 'Seonee.'"—Mail.

"English sportsmen who may be tempted by this book to visit the jungles of Seonee will not regret the trip.....We must congratulate the author on his success.....It is greatly superior to the average of sporting works, and readers of all classes may take it up with the full assurance that they will find plenty to interest them between the covers."—Globe.

"Familiar as we are with the ground and the people, we have not discovered a mistake even in the allusions or colouring of the dialogue.....Rarely have we enjoyed a book so much. If all who write on India would write thus, the British public would soon be ashamed of their culpable ignorance."—Edinburgh Daily Review.

AN INTRODUCTION to the HISTORY of the SUCCESSIVE REVISIONS of the BOOK of COMMON PRAYER.

Crown 8vo, pp. viii., 568, cloth, price 12s.

THE FIRST PRAYER-BOOK of EDWARD VI., Compared with the Successive Revisions of the Book of Common Prayer. Together with a Concordance and Index to the Rubrics in the several Editions.

"Mr. Parker's two volumes, each of them exceeding 500 closely-printed pages, are the result of extraordinary care and labour. They are both valuable contributions to the History of the Common Prayer-book. . . . We can not only most cordially recommend them; but we can say that, supplying a quantity of information not to be found elsewhere, they are indispensable in any inquiry into the History of the Common Prayer-book and the true meaning of its contents. Nor especially must we omit to notice a very useful and laboriously compiled Concordance and Index to all the rubrics of the five revisions."

PHILOLOGY.

London, LONGMANS & CO.

ON THE EXISTENCE OF MIXED LANGUAGES

Being an Examination of the Fundamental Axioms of the Foreign School of Modern Philology, more especially as applied to the English.

Prize Essay by J. C. CLOUGH, F.R.His.S.

8vo, 2s. 6d.

CONTENTS.

GENERAL EXAMINATION OF THE SUBJECT:—

Jargons—Lingua Franca of South Europe—Maltese—Hindustani—Gypsy or Romany—Persian—Turkish—Basque—Celtic—Romance Languages generally—Spanish and Portuguese—French—Wallachian—Teutonic Languages generally.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE:—

The English Language is Mixed—The Anglo-Saxon Element—Other Germanic Elements—The Norse Element—The Celtic Element—Elements from Distant Parts—The Latin and Neo-Latin Element—English is a Teuto-Romance Language—On English Pronunciation.

"This is a book which may be read with profit even where its conclusions are not accepted. The author has taken very considerable pains with his subject, has amassed a vast quantity of material from the newest sources, and, above all, is not afraid to have an opinion of his own, even when that opinion is opposed to such authorities as Max Müller and Dr. Morris. . . . The book is made up of examinations of various languages to make out his case. . . . Thus there are chapters on jargons—such as 'Creole-French, pigeon-English, nigger-English, and nigger-Dutch, the Lingua Franca of South Europe, Maltese, Romany, Basque, Turkish, Wallachian, &c. It will be seen that this book covers a deal of ground. . . . But we have said enough to call attention to a book which deserves to be read.'—Educational Times.

"Long, elaborate, and learned investigation into the nature and origin of existing tongues. . . . We are disposed to draw attention to the points of the book as one which must be extremely interesting, by its large amount of more or less fresh-looking material, and its vigorous argument. . . . A valuable and important work, which must throw light on many moot points."—School Board Chronicle.

"His book shows deep learning and acumen, and will open the eyes of the reader to see the effects that different events in the history of the English people, and especially the Norman Conquest, had on the language of the Anglo-Saxons themselves. . . . He has enlarged the circle of our knowledge of the nature and qualities of the English language, and has thrown much light on the question at issue."—Yr Haul.

"It contains much interesting matter in the way of new facts and arguments in support of the doctrine that mixed languages, true hybrids, may and do exist."—Letter from His Excellency G. F. Marsh, Author of the Student's Manual of the English Language.

"He writes with a considerable knowledge of his subject, and has invested what might seem a very dry question with a great deal of interest. His book is a useful contribution to philology."—School Guardian.

"In the work before us, though addressed more particularly to philologists, the general reader will find much that is entertaining in the analogies the author has pointed out in the words and modes of expression selected from various languages in support of his views."

The Schoolmaster.

"Evinces great learning and research, and will prove most interesting to all who are at all given to philological studies. . . . One is struck by the fact that our author seems to be as familiar with the great variety of French provincialisms, vocabulary, and pronunciation as he undoubtedly is with those of England. . . . In order to form an idea of the treatise as a compendious philological work, or of the argument it is written to sustain, the whole must be carefully read and studied; and the study will richly repay the labour."—Caranarthen Journal.

"The writer of this very learned essay has not erred on the side of prolixity or dryness, for he has disposed of the whole question in a very small space, and has produced a treatise that can be read with interest by any classical scholar, possessing the most moderate acquaintance with the ancient tongues."—Northern Whig.

"A most interesting and exhaustive essay. . . . Able and most instructive work."—Western Morning News.

"Presents much curious and interesting information with regard to words generally."—Rock.

"The author in our opinion most conclusively shows that English certainly presents the case of a speech mixed in every point of classification. It is due to Mr. Clough to say that he has made a somewhat stiff and difficult subject intensely interesting. . . . Although Mr. Clough has ventured to differ from such high authorities as Max Müller and Dr. Morris in his views of English accidence, he is well able to hold his own; and we cannot speak of this new contribution to comparative philology and the word-building of the English language except in terms of the warmest approval."—Liverpool Mercury.

"We think, notwithstanding the weight of the authorities against him, the writer has made out his case. . . . The book is well worth study by all who are interested in the science of language."

Yorkshire Post.

"Mr. Clough's arguments are very forcible, and are supported by a vast array of evidence. . . . The essay bristles with facts and illustrations—some of them very curious—and evinces considerable philological learning and no small share of critical and analytical acumen."—Scotsman.

"Well written and clearly put together, and the facts and illustrations he has collected are for the most part correct."—Academy.

"A large quantity of matter, most useful, nay, indispensable to the student of language. . . . The arrangement and, withal, the critical faculty apparent therein go far to win a name for the author, not only as a linguist, but as a comparative philologist."—Daily Review.

"Full of information, and the facts collected are usually accurate."

Rev. A. H. Sayce in Nature.

"Mr. J. C. Clough's well-arranged essay gives evidence of considerable industry and good sense. . . . He has proved his point, and fully established the counter-proposition. . . . Interesting and useful volume. He has compressed a great amount of matter into the small compass of 123 pages by dint of method and concise statement, thereby producing a very creditable monograph."—Examiner.

"Worthy of some attention, more particularly from those whose opinions he combats. . . . It would be most desirable to have a reply from either of his opponents."—North British Daily Mail.

The Times says:—"If 'Rose Turquand' is a maiden novel, as we may suppose, it does its author very great credit. It shows real power, and no little originality. Rose is certainly brought out as a noble character—none the less so that there can be no mistaking that she is made of flesh and blood like ourselves."

"There can be no doubt that a new novelist of most remarkable power has suddenly appeared among us."

THE RENAISSANCE:

STUDIES IN ART AND POETRY.

By WALTER PATER,

Fellow of Brasenose College, Oxford.

Crown 8vo, 10s. 6d.

"Mr. Pater's Studies in the history of the Renaissance constitute the most remarkable example of this younger movement towards a fresh and inner criticism, and they are in themselves a singular and interesting addition to literature. The subjects are of the very kind in which we need instruction and guidance, and there is a moral in the very choice of them. From the point of view of form and literary composition, they are striking in the highest degree. They introduce to English readers a new and distinguished master in the great and difficult art of writing prose. Their style is marked by a flavour at once full and exquisite, by a quality that mixes richness with delicacy, and a firm coherency with infinite subtlety."

Fortnightly Review.

"The essays which constitute this book are delightful reading; they possess a geniality and elegance of thought, fancy, and diction, which are rare indeed in themselves, but rarer still in combination, as they are here, with considerable learning and acumen. There is no parade of learning in these pages; a rapid reader might not hesitate to say that between the covers not a single sign appeared of more than common study or of recondite knowledge; nevertheless, the power of writing on such a subject as the later Renaissance in the comprehensive, yet exact and singularly appreciative, manner of Mr. Pater, is proof of unusual accomplishments, and no small share of original power. Few essays that we have read are equal to that on Sandro Botticelli, nor is the little treatise on Luca della Robbia inferior in appreciation either of the art of the sculptor or his work. We mention these essays as examples of what may be found in the book. There are besides papers on the poetry of Michael Angelo, Leonardo da Vinci, a first-rate analysis, another on Joachim du Bellay, and two more. All will be read with pleasure by those who have paid attention to the subjects; to others they may be, so to say, keys to new regions of thought."—Athenaeum.

"Considered in the way which we have superfluously illustrated, Mr. Pater's criticism is possessed of rare excellence. His powers of perception are delicately sharp, his sensibilities exquisite in their refinement and catholic in their range; his language is carefully pure, and used with great skill to distinguish between shades of meaning. . . . Mr. Pater's criticism is not unfrequently so imaginative that we are tempted to regard it as vying with, if not excelling, in artistic quality, the painting or poem criticised. We shall not say that Mr. Pater's criticism totally eclipses the interest of such painting as Botticelli's or of such poetry as Joachim du Bellay's, but we suspect that in strength and vividness of description it approaches the one, and in force of thought and depth of sentiment surpasses the other."—Spectator.
